REGARDING THE DISPENSARY.

Statement of Facts From Treasurer of Monroe Board of Trade.

Monroe, N. C., Jan. 22, 1899.
Mr. A. W. McAlister, Greensboro, N.C.

My Dear Sir—If you will pardon my delay in replying to yours of a late date, I will at this time, the earliest opportunity, give you such information as I can regarding the dispensary in our town. This writer opposed the establishment of the dispensary when the legislature of 1897 passed the act, not because he was in sympathy with the liquor traffic, or that he did not want to see the evils of it curtailed, but simply because he thought this plan entirely inadequate for the accomplishment of any good. After the institution, if it may be called such, was established and tried one year, he is heartily in favor of its continuance. It does do good. Public sentiment has distinctly manifested itself as in support of the law, and with such changes in the act as will allow the commissioners to use part of the profits in running down law breakers, blind tigers will surely be reduced to a minimum. This too was a peculiarly bad place owing to local surroundings. If a dispensary can do good in Monroe, it can do good anywhere surely.

I do not deem it necessary to discuss the financial part. A business that can start up without a cent, pay heavy charges of litigation in fighting its enemies, and with an armed foe hidden behind every corner, and make nearly $3,000 clear the first year, is a success financially. With the killing of the blind tigers, which is confidently expected for this year, it will double that and still sell less liquor than the old bar rooms did. But the financial part is the least worthy. The great point is that the temptation offered to all people, especially young men and boys, by open bars is gone. Consequently, while you may not be teaching any drunkard to quit drinking, you are keeping a great many persons from becoming drunkards.

Here is the principle of a dispensary in a nut shell; each locality doubtless has its details; when the public goes into the whiskey business by establishing a dispensary, it is for the purpose of curtailing the business, reducing its evils as far as possible, and so hedging it about that it shall finally be crushed out of existence. What money is made by the sale and during this process is used in furthering the cause of its extermination. But when the public puts the whiskey business into the hands of individuals it is to their interest to, and they do all in their power to extend and enlarge the business, making as many drinkers as possible and increasing by all manner of wiles the temptations to men to become consumers of liquor, and to become drunkards, and all the money of the business expended to this end.

I have humbly given you what thoughts occurred to me, without any attempt to write an argumentative article. You may use it as you see fit.

Truly,
R. F. Beasley, Treas.
Monroe Board of Trade.

THE FORGER TRIED.

Bound Over to Court in The Sum of Five Hundred Dollars.

T. R. Dunn, the forger, was given a preliminary trial before Mayor Taylor yesterday afternoon and was bound over to court. In default of $500 bail he was taken back to jail.

At the trial Dunn said he had an accomplice in the forgeries and that not he, but his accomplice had committed them. He lamented the fact that he must suffer for what he had not done, as his accomplice was now out of reach and could not be found.

As to his having a partner there is little doubt, but the checks passed here and at High Point by Dunn were undoubtedly written by himself.

When he was arrested a $10 bill was found in his pocket. He was allowed to keep this, but yesterday afternoon Officer Scott went to his cell and asked for the money, which was to be returned to the High Point Clothing Co. Dunn said that, as he would need no money in jail, he had torn the bill up. This of course was not true, but every crack in the cell was searched and the money could not be found.

Dunn was writing a letter this morning which he said was to his father asking him to give his bond: Perhaps when the letter is addressed the police can learn where Dunn's home is. Yesterday he told that he was from Randolph county, later that he was from Davidson and this morning he told a reporter that he was "from North Carolina."

Meeting Last Night.

A large number of the city's most progressive business men attended the meeting last night to draw up a petition for the repeal of the purchase tax law. - J. A. Odell was made chairman of the meeting. Very little business was transacted, other than the election of the following gentlemen to go to Raleigh with the petition: Chas. H. Ireland, J. S. Hunter and J. W. Scott. Alternates, L. Richardson, M. L. Shields and M. C. Workman.

THAT FAST MAIL SERVICE.

Thought That The Appropriation Will Yet Be Made.

ITS DEFEAT WAS DUE TO POLITICS

Much Interest in The New Circuit Judgeship Which Will Soon Attract McKinley's Attention.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 24—The failure of the house to vote for the fast mail for the south, is still an interesting topic among southern members of congress. There is no doubt felt but that the appropriation will be restored to the postoffice bill by the senate and in this event, the house will get another chance to vote upon the subject. Representative Swanson, of Virginia, who is the chief supporter of the fast mail, is of the opinion that the house will agree to it, rather than to defeat the entire bill, which would be seriously threatened if the opposition should hold out.

Col. Brown, of the Southern railroad, is taking much interest in the appropriation, and naturally feels anxious to have the appropriation restored. Col. Brown has been at the capitol several times within the past few days, it is supposed in reference to the appropriation. He stated the other day that he felt sure that congress would not deprive the south of mail facilities which are accorded to other sections of the country.

It is stated that the defeat of the appropriation was largely due to politics, being connected with the defeat of Ex-Congressman Brown, who was contesting for the seat of Representative Swanson. Some republicans, it is said, took unbrage at the action of republicans who voted for Swanson (most of the latter being also in favor of the southern mail subsidy), and retaliated by voting against the appropriation. If this be the case, it is the impression that if the senate restores the amount, that the house will agree to put it back in the bill.

Southern republicans are much interested in the new circuit judgeship, which will soon attract the president's attention. The contest is a three cornered one, between Captain Shelby, ex-secretary Hillary A. Herbert, both of whom are from Alabama, and former Mayor Glenn, of Georgia. The prevailing opinion seems to be that the appointment will go to Georgia, in which event, Glenn will undoubtedly be the man. He has the support of the prominent republicans of the state, and besides of Senators Clay and Bacon, and former secretary of the interior, Hon. Hoke Smith, who is now in Washington. Should the president conclude to give Alabama the plum, the chances seem to be pretty evenly divided between Shelby and Herbert. The former is a republican, but has the support of Senators Morgan and Pettus, it is said. Herbert is a gold democrat, and has an influential following in the state.

Representative Skinner had not returned to Washington Monday morning, but is expected back within a few days. He is understood to be at his home on important personal business which has occupied his attention.

Washington's birthday will be celebrated by a banquet, under the auspices of the Virginia Democratic Association. Among the speakers will be Col. William J. Bryan, and Senator Daniel. It is thought about five hundred guests will be present, including prominent democrats from every state in the union Invitations will be sent to several of North Carolina's delegation in the next congress. The committee on invitations consists of Hon. William A. Jones, Hon Claude A. Swanson, Hon. John Lamb, Hon. John F. Rixey, and Mr. Robert N. Harper.

Mrs. J. M. Burton, and daughter, Miss Burton, of Asheville, were at the Arlington Hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Walter Q. Gresham, widow of the former secretary of state, accompanied by her son Otto, was also at the Arlington.

Representative elect David E. Johnston, democrat, who will represent one of the West Virginia districts in the next house, was at the Metropolitan Hotel yesterday. During the afternoon he was at the capitol, and on the floor of the house.

Postmasters have been appointed in North Carolina as follows: Ladson M. Hudgins, Bat Cave, Henderson county; Joel Hammond, Dewey, Randolph; James M. Morgan, Etna, Macon; Frank Wade, Kyles Landing, Cumberland; Robert E. Richardson, Wendell, Wake.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

High Point, N. C. Jan. 24

The Whitney Players were greeted last night at the opera house by a large and appreciative audience. Their performance of the bright comedy, "The Little Widow," was so pleasing and so artistic that none there had the least excuse to regret their presence. Miss Atkison, who is so favorably known here among the theatre-goers, made an excellent widow. We would like to compliment all persons in the play, but for lack of space we cannot. Tonight the play entitled "The Bowry Waif," will be introduced, which will without a doubt be a good play.

We have a good police force. You can't lose Bennett and Burns. George Hicks, who ran away from the chain gang about three weeks ago and who has since been chased by two officers, was run down last night after 12 o'clock, about seven miles from here by Bennett and Burns. Hicks has said it was useless for any man to go after him because they could not catch him. I guess when he woke up this morning and found himself in the guard house he changed his mind.

Ed L. Ragan, of Greensboro, was in the city last night on business.

Jake Pike went to Charlotte this morning to spend a few days.

Jack Bostick, of Randleman, has accepted a position at the Western Union telegraph office as night operator.

Mr. and Mrs. Hotaling, of Halifax, N. S., are spending a few weeks here at Jarrell's hotel.

Chas. Klutz, of Salisbury, is spending a few days in the city with Mr. R. J. Bell.

We are glad to see Prof. Chas. G. Mann out again, after having been confined to his room for about two months.

Mrs. J. W. McNairy, of Greensboro, spent a few hours in the city last night with Miss Mamie Smith, on her return home after spending the day with her father, Mr. Frank Steed, at Glenola.

Mass Meeting of Citizens To Be Held at The Court House Tonight.

A mass meeting has been called at the court house tonight to consider and discuss the matter of establishing a dispensary for Greensboro. If you are interested in this movement from any standpoint, you are invited. If you are opposed to the movement you are invited. All are invited and it is hoped there will be a large attendance of all factions that a full and free interchange of views may be had.

Remember the meeting is tonight at 7:30 at the court house.

A HOT CHASE.

Twenty-Five Hunters on the Trail Last Night.

A party of twenty-five hunters participated in an exciting fox chase last night. The fox was turned loose at Buffalo church a few miles north of town, and twenty-five trim and eager dogs were soon on his trail. Through trees, briars and bushes the fox led the way, while clattering hoofs, and deafening yelps from a score and five canine throats, reminded that danger was near.

The chase kept up hot and swift and several miles were covered when Reynard was counted out. He was caught within a mile of the starting point.

Nearly all of Greensboro's most enthusiastic fox hunters were in the crowd, while several were on their first hunt. One of the latter in his excitement, let his horse, going at full speed, plant his hoof midway of the spinal column of one of the best dogs.

Santanelli Last Night.

Every seat was taken at the Academy of Music last night where Santanelli, the master hypnotist, opened his return engagement here. The performance was in many respects different from those given before, but like all the rest, exceedingly funny.

Several ladies were hypnotized at the beginning of the performance and among other things, enjoyed a candy pulling while under the mystic spell.

After the ladies, several young men went on the stage and were put to all kinds of funny actions. Ladies on the stage again tonight.

Bill to Shut Out Polygamist.

Washington, Jan. 23—Representative Clark, of Iowa, today introduced a bill to prevent any polygamist from holding a seat as a senator or representative. The bill provides that no person living in or practising polygamy shall be eligible to be a member of either house of Congress, nor shall such person be permitted to hold a seat therein.

By Cable To The Telegram.

Sandiego, Jan. 24—There is a somewhat serious state of affairs on board the Philadelphia, now in the harbor here. Since her arrival thirty men of her crew have deserted, and eighteen of them have been recaptured.

The men are very bitter and say they have been denied shore leave in Central American and Mexican ports, although such was promised them. Admiral Kaunz has received official notice from Washington of his promotion, his commission dating from December 8th.

General Eagan to be Tried Upon Two Counts.

Washington, Jan. 23—The charges and specifications upon which Commissary General Eagan is to be tried this week have been given to the press. There are two charges, viz: "Conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," and "conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline."

The specifications quote from General Eagan's recent testimony before the war investigating commission, in which he attacked General Miles. The precise nature of General Eagan's plea to these charges and specifications has not yet been determined upon. So far as the charges are concerned it is understood that General Eagan will not plead guilty to either of them. A strong legal contest is looked for in the proceedings before the court-martial.

IT IS PROVING ITSELF.

The Dispensary System is Clearly Gaining Ground.

The official count in South Dakota shows that the constitutional amendment providing for a dispensary system was adopted by a majority of 1,613 votes. This victory in South Dakota, furthermore, according to the Now York "Sun," is not the only gain which the dispensary system has recently made. In Georgia, where the plan was first tried in the college town of Athens, it has been adopted in a score of towns and counties. In Alabama also it is gaining a foothold, two counties having a dispensary bill pending in the legislature.

The greatest gain it has made, however, is in South Carolina. As our readers will recall, the dispensary law first encountered violent resistance from the liquor-dealer and their sympathizers in some of the cities; and when Governor Tillman put down the disorders and reduced the illicit traffic to a minimum unknown in any other state, a federal judge (Judge Simonton) restored the "blind tigers" by enjoining state officials, from preventing the sale of liquor in "original packages" imported from other states.

This decision was based upon the astonishing doctrine that the dispensary law was not passed under the police powers of the state. Judge Simonton for months almost nullified the state law by permitting liquor-dealers to import carloads of loose packages of liquor some of them containing only a half-pint. His decision did not however, keep the state officers from watching where these original packages were sold, and arresting dealers who allowed the contents of the packages to be drunk on the premises. In this way the law was kept half alive until last March, when Judge Simonton's decision finally reached the supreme court, and his usurped protectorate over the liquor traffic was brought to an end. "At the present time," says the article in the "Sun," "there is not an original package shop in the state, there are comparatively few blind tigers, the dispensary system has more friends than it ever had before, and all declare that it has come to stay. All efforts against it now look, not to more whiskey, but to prohibition." All the liquor furnished to the million and more people of the state is bought at one of the ninety-five dispensaries, and even there cannot be drunk on the premises. Citizens can still drink what they want in their own homes, but tippling, treating and loafing-places are practically things of the past.—The Outlook.

SOME NEAT WORK.

Burglar Enters Barker's Store In an Easy Way.

John Barker's store, on West Market street, was burglarized last night and between twenty-five and thirty dollars in cash carried off. The burglar was evidently very familiar with the premises, as he gained access in a very easy, but unthought-of-way. There are steps leading into the cellar from the outside of the building and a long underground passage alongside. The doors leading into the cellar from the passage were seldom locked.

The burglar tore off one of the steps and dropped through the aperture into the front end of the passage. He then went through the cellar into the store and took the money from the cash drawer. There is no clue.

Indications of Interesting Developments in The Quay Fight.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Harrisburg, Jan. 24—The indications this morning were that there might be some interesting developments in the Quay fight today. There was scarcely a corporal's guard to attend the democratic informal conference called for this morning by Col. Guffey who came to stiffen the lines of the minority.

The anti-Quay republicans held a conference at 10 a. m. Particular attention was paid in this meeting to the subject of pairing, which is also giving the Quayites and democrats much trouble.

Declines from one-fourth to one and one-half, the latter up preferred stronger tone after the first ten minutes, due to the firmness of certain issues, notably coal stocks, W. U. and People's Gas, the latter advancing two points. Trading generally is very heavy and excited, but not so great as on yesterday.

MR. LEAVITT'S STATEMENT.

While in Fayetteville on Saturday we were introduced to Rev. T. H. Leavitt, who has for the past year been a resident of that place. In answer to our query, "What do you think of the dispensary?" he replied: "I have lived in Maine and closely observed the workings of the prohibitory laws there. To say that prohibition does not prohibit is not telling the truth. It does prohibit. There are, of course, outlaws there who run illicit business; but prohibition prohibits. I have also lived in Wilmington for two years and observed the workings of the open saloon system. For the last year I have lived in Fayetteville, and after a fair and deliberate view of the three systems I declare emphatically that the dispensary is the best thing I have ever seen to control the liquor traffic." Mr. Leavitt is a most intelligent gentleman and a member of the Baptist church.

Bishop Potter's utterances on the saloon question are the most remarkable and astounding we have ever heard coming from such a source on this great question. He says the saloon is the "poor man's club" and argues that it is a necessity. The bishop will no doubt feel that he has done mankind a great service when he finds that saloon men are using his speech to create public sentiment in favor of the retention of the saloon and against the establishment of the dispensary! Many who have experienced the comfort and satisfaction derived from the 'light, warmth and music" to be found in the "poor man's club" will disagree with the bishop.

From our point of view a change in the manner of remunerating our superior court solicitors from the present to a stated salary for all the solicitors in the state would be unjust. Under the salary system, which is now proposed, the superior court districts will have to be changed in order to equalize the work. It would not be right to cut down the salary of a man who now earns $3,500 in fees to $2,000; nor would it be fair to pay a man $2,000 for the same work which now pays him, in fees, $1,500 or less.

When You Have a Bad Cold

You want the best medicine that can be obtained, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keepexpectoration easy.

You want a remedy that will counteract any tendency toward pneumonia.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only medicine in use that meets all of these requirements. This remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. It has rivals, but, for the speedy and permanent cure of bad colds stands without a peer and its splendid qualities are everywhere admired and praised. For sale by C. E. Holton.

W. H. Hobson, merchant of Jerusalem, Davie county, made an assignment last week.

Mr. Elisha Berry, of this place, says he never had anything to do him so much good and give such quick relief from rheumatism as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He was bothered with shooting pains from hip to knee until he used this liniment, which affords prompt relief.—B. F. Baker, druggist, St. Paris, Ohio. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Mr. O. H. Johnson, a well known business man of Raleigh, died Saturday, quite suddenly.

La Grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avoid it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Elden, Mo., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for La Grippe." Pleasant to take, quick to act. Howard Gardner.

ENGLISHMEN ARE COMING.

Will Appear in Greensboro Female College Chapel.

The announcement made in yesterday's issue that a representative of Mr. Chas. A. E. Harriss, the English director, who is touring the British Guard Band, was in the city with a view of having the band appear here, created no little excitement in social as well as musical circles.

The organization is undoubtedly one of the most expensive attractions that has ever visited Greensboro, in fact the south, and consequently the representative asked a big guarantee, as unfortunately the local opera houses, in the agent's eyes, were too small to place such an organization in, our enterprising theatrical manager, Dr. Griffith, at the earnest solicitation of a large number of our leading citizens, accepted the terms if a suitable auditorium could be secured. Finally the executive committee of the Greensboro Female College was appealed to, and after discussing the particulars, gladly placed the chapel at their disposal.

Although Dr. Griffith assumes a great responsibility in bringing this famous English band here, he feels that the citizens will appreciate his efforts in catering to the music loving as well as the social people of this city, by bringing here one of the finest musical attractions that ever visited Greensboro.

Excursions will be run over the Southern Railway from all points within fifty miles of Greensboro at reduced rates, and the event promises to be one of the most successful of its kind ever held in this city.

The date selected for Greensboro will be Thursday evening, March 9th.

ACCOUNTS DIFFER.

Reports of Samoan Affair Fail to Agree in Certain Essentials.

Washington, Jan. 23.—No less than three different accounts of the Samoan trouble have been received at the state department. The United States, Great Britain and Germany have each received official advices, and none of these agree in some essential particulars, about which more positive information must be had before definite action can be taken. All reports agree, however, that the German president of the municipal council, Raffel, acted entirely without authority. His resignation had been accepted some time ago and his successor named, and it caused great surprise that he was still in office. Meanwhile no negotiations have been begun looking to modification of the existing arrangement. It was denied authoritatively that a proposition for a geographical division had been received. Some new arrangement is, however, considered inevitable.

Women and Portraits.

"It is a curious fact," said an experienced New Orleans photographer, "that it isn't the handsomest women who make the handsomest pictures. Why is it? Well, a beauty nearly always owes her charm to something beyond the reach of the lens—to her complexion, her hair or the vivacity of her expression. Very few such women have regular features, and when they are reproduced in plain black and white they are at a great disadvantage. Their photographs are generally unsatisfactory and are really not correct as likenesses. On the other hand, a woman who is regarded as homely may have singularly perfect lines, but attracts no attention through lack of color and animation.

"I'll cite you a queer instance: A dozen or so years ago Maude Branscombe was the most popular model in the United States for photographic 'art studios.' Her best pose was as a nun, and her pictured face was strikingly beautiful. Thousands upon thousands of people have raved over her loveliness, but the real Miss Branscombe, whom I had the pleasure of knowing, was a demure, pale little woman who would never in the world attract the slightest attention in a crowd. Without a doubt she was passed unnoticed by many a person who treasured her portrait as a marvel."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Trading Rat.

Of all curious animals which man has come across and studied probably none can compare with a kind of rat found in the Rocky mountains. Though for a long time well known to trappers and lumbermen, it is only lately that any naturalist has studied these peculiar little beasts.

Although called a rat this little animal is larger than an ordinary rat, with a body eight inches long. It is a very pretty creature, with soft gray fur and a squirrellike tail, easily tamed and a delightful pet. The trappers long ago gave it the name of the "trading rat," from its curious habit of never stealing anything without putting something in its place.

Two young women camping in the highlands of Wyoming left the lid of their cracker box off one night. In the morning all the biscuits were gone and the box was filled with an indescribable mixture of chips, scraps of leather, sticks, bones, dried beans—in fact, everything movable near at hand.

The trading rat builds a very beautiful nest, sometimes two feet in height, and is very clever at storing food. It has a violent fancy for anything of a bright red hue.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Grip's Ravages Doomed.

So much misery and so many deaths have been caused by the grip that every one should know what a wonderful remedy for this malady is found in Dr. King's New Discovery. That distressing stubborn cough, that inflames the throat, robs you of sleep, weakens your system and paves the way for consumption is quickly cured by this matchless cure. If you have chills and fever, pain in the back of the head, soreness in bones and muscles, sore throat and that cough that grips you like a vise, you need Dr. King's New Discovery to cure your grip and prevent pneumonia or consumption. Price 50c and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A trial bottle free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Famous Dog Actors.

Of all the illustrious dogs which ever trod the boards the most famous is Dragon, the property of Captain Montdidier in the French army. This gentleman was murdered in the forest of Bondy by his friend, Lieutenant Macaire of the same regiment. After the crime Dragon showed such a strange aversion to Macaire that suspicion was aroused against him. In the end he confessed his crime, and his accomplice, Landry, in trying to escape, was seized by the faithful animal and bitten to death.

This story has held the English stage, on and off, since the year of Waterloo, and it is only three decades since two "stars," named Lamb and Emmett, played in it with their trained dog Carlo at the Marylebone theater, London, then directed by Joe Cave. This animal was also the principal performer in a canine drama named "Poor Dog Tray." Eighty years ago there was a theater at Peckham where a youth named John Baldwin Buckstone made his debut as the injured captain.

There is a venerable theatrical legend which deals with a piece called "The Caravan Driver and His Dog." One evening the leading tragedian was taken ill, and the prompter rushed off to the manager to inform him that the play must be changed. "How you alarmed me!" said that worthy man, ordering a glass of strong brandy and water to steady his nerves. "The tragedian unwell! I was afraid it was the dog."—New York Times.

Wanted, a Holograph Will.

A Canadian barrister is responsible for the following: One day a farmer came into his office and requested that a holograph will should be prepared for his signature. The lawyer began at once to explain terms, but the tiller of the prairie, who prided himself not a little upon his legal knowledge, only grew angry. "I want a holograph will," he declared, "and I'm going to have it," he added in parenthesis. When the impossibility of his request was still pointed out he angrily stumped from the office shouting out: "D—n it! If I can't have a holograph will, I'll blamed well die intestine!"

Almost as funny was the tradesman who had recently been left some land. He came to the lawyer with instructions for a deed of transfer to be prepared in favor of himself. On being asked his reasons, he gave them thus: "Don't feel sort of comfortable about that bit of country, I know how particular you lawyer gents are, and I thought maybe that if I signed a deed making over the property to myself no one would be able to touch it." When his application was refused, he went away in a rage, and subsequently tried to bring an action against the lawyer, who, he imagined, was trying to defraud him.—Cornhill Magazine.

When Mascagni Composes.

Mascagni's greatest passion and delight is to conduct an orchestra, for which he himself says he has a natural talent. But what is more interesting is to watch Mascagni composing his works. His wife, Signora Lina; Mimi (his eldest boy), Dino (another son) and Emilia (his little daughter) all have their parts in it. When the maestro is feverishly writing notes and rushing to the piano to catch an inspiration, his wife follows him to and fro, while the children climb on his knees, he unconsciously running his fingers through their curls.

As soon as he has fixed on a melody he gathers the children in his arms, and they all roll indiscriminately on the floor, the shouts, bumps, laughter, tears, making such an uproar that at last Signora Mascagni interferes, scolding her husband and telling him that a grave musician should give a better example to his family. She bundles away the children, and he returns to his desk, but a few minutes later the scene repeats itself.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Maharajah's Revenge.

The maharanee of Nepaul committed suicide in horror at the disfigurement which an attack of smallpox had caused in her features. The maharajah, who was passionately attached to her, first wreaked his vengeance on the physicians who had attended her in her illness. Then he flew at higher game.

Out of the great temple he brought the idols, placed loaded cannon before them and bade gunners fire. In terror at the proposed blasphemy they refused. Thereupon the maharajah hanged several of them. The survivors then submitted, and the guns were fired and the idols blown to pieces.—Leipsic Missionsblatt.

Took Him at His Word.

Gradgrind (to his employees)—Nobody but me is to touch that clock. Nobody is to begin or leave off work except as it indicates the time.

Foreman—Yes, sir.

Gradgrind (the next day)—Why, the day is one-fourth gone and nobody's at work! What does this mean?

Foreman (meekly)—You forgot to wind the clock, sir.—London Fun.

Up In Fractions.

Mamma—Bessie, how many sisters has your new playmate?

Bessie—He has one, mamma. He tried to fool me by saying that he had two half sisters, but he didn't know that I've studied arithmetic.—Tacoma Ledger.

How It Happened.

"What time is it?"

"Haven't you got a watch?"

"Yes, but I don't wear it any more."

"Why not?"

"People kept bothering me asking me what time it was."—Chicago Record.

Reason Enough.

Maud—What made her change her wedding day?

May—It was bargain day at Roller's.—Jewish Comment.

The smallest things may exert the greatest influence. De Witt's Little Early Risers are unequalled for overcoming constipation and liver troubles. Small pill, best pill, safe pill. Howard Gardner.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, editor of the Micanopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe and its exhausting after effects. Never fails. Howard Gardner.

To Our Friends
and Patrons:

In closing our books for the year 1898 we find we have quite a number of small accounts which in themselves are trivial, but she aggregate would make quite a nice sum. While we wish to be obliging and courteous to our customers and try ro please all, we must insist upon getting onr business upon more of a Cash Basis.

To open so many small accounts involves quite an amount of book keeping and consumes too much valuable time. This can bo avoided by paying cash for your bundle when delivered and do away with all possibility of disputed accounts.

Thanking our customers for their patronage in the past, and extending to each and every one the greetings of the season.

Not a Coward After All.

An army surgeon tells a story of an officer many of you know. It was before Santiago. The surgeon, going to the front, came upon the young officer, sitting beside the road, trembling like a leaf and whiter than the dead men around him. At sight of the surgeon he began to talk.

"I'm a coward. I'm a coward. I'm a coward," he said. "I knew I'd run, and I did. Oh, Lord, I wish you'd kill me! I'm disgraced forever. I just got scared. I knew I would. I was going along all right, not thinking of anything but getting at the dashed Spaniards, yelling to my men to come on and running ahead as fast as I could, when all of a sudden I stubbed my toe or something, and then I can't remember being scared, but I must have been, for I came galloping back here, sick as a dog. Oh, I feel so awfully gone! I'm a blanked coward, and I wish I was dead. Oh, Lord, why don't somebody shoot me? I've got such an awful goneness right here." And he put his hand to his stomach. The surgeon gave him a quick look and caught him as he plunged forward in a faint. Where the awful goneness was a Mauser bullet had found its billet. They carried the wounded man to the field hospital, and he chuckled all the way.

"Oh, my! Oh, my!" he said over and over. "I wasn't scared! I wasn't scared!" And then he would laugh delightedly. "I wasn't scared! I was hit—I was just hit! I ain't a coward after all."—Washington Post.

Jugglers of India.

Two men—one old and emaciated, carrying a native drum; the other young and well fed, fantastically gowned with an overskirt of colored handkerchiefs, and a multitude of bells which jangle noisily at his slightest movement; long, ragged hair; altogether a hideous figure.

The drummer begins a weird tomtoming and the other man an incantation. Then he extends a "supra"—a bamboo tray used by all natives—on which any one who pleases places a large handful of rice and the same quantity of grain. The two ingredients are thoroughly amalgamated, so that it would in the ordinary way take hours to separate them.

Now the fantastic man with his tray begins. He turns round slowly, gradually quickening his pace (the drummer also keeping time), faster and faster in a giddy vortex, the tray at times almost out of his hands, yet so cleverly handled that not a grain falls out. It is very trying to watch, but in a couple of minutes both stop simultaneously, and the man shows to the wondering spectators two little heaps—one of rice and the other grain—at different ends of the tray, which in his sickening gyrations he has been able to separate by some extraordinary manipulation.—Pearson's Weekly.

Willing to Share the Honor.

Patient—No, doctor, there isn't any particular pain, but somehow I feel as if I were going to die.

Doctor (who has been called out of bed at 3 o'clock in the morning)—Let me feel your pulse. (After a moment) Have you made your will?

Patient (alarmed)—No, but—

Doctor—Who is your lawyer?

Patient—Mr. Studds. Why, doctor, do you think—

Doctor—Then you had better send for him. Who is your minister?

Patient (still more alarmed)—Rev. Mr. Saintly. Am I—

Doctor—I think he had better be sent for.

Patient (badly frightened)—Oh, doctor, do you really think I'm going to die?

Doctor—No, I don't. There's nothing at all the matter with you, but I hate to be the only man who has been made a fool of tonight.—Liverpool Mercury.

A Pretty Effect.

An illuminated sign on a store up town spells the name of the proprietor in letters outlined by electric lights and is lit up and then made dark again automatically. When the sign begins to shine out, the electric bulbs at the left are the first to appear, and then the illumination follows the course of an immense pen writing the name out. So closely is the course of the pen followed that the "i" in the name is not dotted with its especial electric light dot until the last flourish at the extreme right of the name is lit up. Then, with a perceptible interval, as if the gigantic pen was being carried back, the dot on the "I" is made and shines out and the whole name appears.—New York Sun.

Constant Squeezing.

"Now, Algernon," said Miss Fussanfeather, as she was tightly held in the embrace of her fiance, "they tell me that men get tired of squeezing after they are married. Will you promise me not to give it up after we are man and wife?"

"Oh, I assure you it is not necessary to make any such promises," replied the young man. "I guarantee you'll have all the squeezing you want to do to get along on $7 a week."—Exchange.

True Friendship.

Author—When you come to my new book, I hope you will not be too severe on me.

Critic—I read it last week, and my criticism was certainly not detrimental.

Author—Why, I didn't see any notice of it in your column!

Critic—Of course not. We have always been friends, and for that reason I refrained from printing my candid opinion of it.—Chicago News.

As Mexicans Do It.

"I am very sorry to hear," remarked the curate pensively to one of his parishioners, "that one of the great lights of our church, Brother MacLellan, has become insolvent and as the result will have to close his house of business."

"Another case of 'The Light That Failed,'" added the parishioner as he left the parsonage.—Mexican Herald.

Yellow Jaundice Cured

Suffering humanity should be supplied with ezery means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours. M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

The God of Murderers.

In a certain mountain village called Laituk, on the northwest frontier of Burma, is a sacred pool, in which is said to live a nat—i. e., a demon—called Shearpanlai, who is the guardian spirit of murderers.

When a murder is committed anywhere in these hills, the water of this pool is reported to turn blood red.

Now, when this happens it is a warning sign to the villagers, who are the wardens of the pool, to be on their guard lest the murderer, whoever he may be and from whatever village he may come, unobserved, succeed in reaching the pool, for the Chin law or custom is that if a murderer manages to elude the "avengers of blood" (who are usually some near blood relations of the victim) and the vigilance of the guardians of the pool and succeeds in gaining it and washes his hands in its blood red water, which, as soon as this occurs, resumes its usual appearance, testifying that the god of murder is appeased, he is absolved from his blood guiltiness and is thereafter a free man, and no one may henceforth molest him.

On the other hand, if he were overtaken by his pursuers or were he prevented by the village guardians from reaching the well he would speedily pay the penalty of his crime with his life.—London Answers.

Bismarck and the Pope.

On another occasion—it was in 1898—Eugen Wolf, the well known traveler and writer, came on a visit to the prince, after having passed through Rome and having had an audience with the pope. "The pope asked me where I was going to on leaving Rome. I told him that I was going back home to Germany and that my first object would be to pay my respects to Prince Bismarck, who had hitherto always received me. The pope thereupon said: 'Il Principe di Bismarck! Do not forget to greet him from me.' So, when I arrived at Friedrichsruh, I told the prince that I had greetings from Rome to deliver to him.

"'Oh, indeed!' said Bismarck. 'I suppose you have paid a visit to the pope. How fares the health of the holy father? I must tell you that I always got on very well indeed with him. He even gave me his highest decoration, mounted in brilliants. It was only that confounded (verflixte) little excellency (Windthorst) whom I could not manage to get along with.'"—Sidney Whitman in Harper's Magazine.

The Editor on Carelessness.

"Yes," said the editor as he put his gum brush into the ink bottle and tried to paste on a clipping with his pen, "yes, the great fault of newspaper contributors is carelessness.

"Indeed," he continued as he dropped the copy he had been writing into the wastebasket and marked "Editorial" across the corner of a poem entitled "An Ode to Death," "contributors are terribly careless.

"You would be surprised," said he as he clipped out a column of fashion notes and labeled them "Farm," "to see the slipshod writing that comes into the editorial sanctum.

"Misspelled, unpunctuated, written on both sides of the sheet, illegible, ungrammatical stuff. Contributors are terribly careless. They are"—

Just then the office boy came in with that dictatorial and autocratic manner he has and demanded more copy, and the editor handed him the love letter he had just written to his sweetheart.—London Globe.

Private Butter.

I am reminded of an incident on one of the Atlantic steamers which took place not long ago and in which a married member of a family, to whom it is not necessary to allude, was a party. The husband and wife appeared at all meals, flanked on either side by a large dish of butter.

As it was an English ship and butter was not served at many of the meals, some who were neighbors were delighted to see that the hors d'oeuvre had at last a place on the table. They helped themselves bountifully at luncheon.

At dinner they were surprised to see little sticks in the middle of the mound of butter with a pasteboard card attached. The card read, "Private Butter; Keep Off the Grass."

It is needless to say that the hint was taken.—New York Journal.

English Army Pay.

The father of a subaltern in the English army says that his son, "after having had about $5,000 spent on his education at a public school and being crammed for his examinations by various tutors and about $1,250 more spent on his uniform and Indian outfit, obtained a second lieutenancy, for which he receives the munificent pay of 5s. 3d. ($1.30) a day, a sum scarcely sufficient to pay for his messing, washing and servant." In India this is increased to 202 rupees a month, but his expenses are at least 240 rupees. A balance is thus left on the wrong side, which this British parent has to make good.—Exchange.

Hope.

"It seems to me," said the chronic misanthrope, 'that I haven't a friend in the wide world."

"Well," said the cold blooded acquaintance, "cheer up. You know the earth is cooling and cold contracts. Mebbe the world'll seem narrower after awhile."—Washington Star.

Getting at It.

Attorney—Now, madam, will you be kind enough to give us your age?

The Witness (flippantly)—Oh! I was born before the war.

Attorney (crushingly)—Yes, madam; Spanish or civil?—Philadelphia North American.

Opening of the Social Season and Inauguration of the Magnificent

New York & Florida Limited Service

JANUARY 16, 1899.

The opening of the Florida season will be signalized this year as usual by the placing in service of the "New York and Florida Limited" between New York and St. Augustine, Fla. This is acknowledged to be the finest train in the world, in its appointments, luxury and detail of finish, and the first of these trains was constructed by the Pullman company for the use of the President of the United States on official tours.

"The New York and Florida Limited" leaves New York daily except Sunday at 11:50 a. m., via the pennsylvania Railroad, the Southern Railway, Florida Central & Peninsular R. R. and the Florida East Coast Railway, and reaches St. Augustine at 2.20 p. m. the following day, making the run, which exceeds 1,000 miles, in little more than twenty-four hours. No train has attracted so much attention, and its fame has been heralded wherever railroading is known. It is composed of Pullman compartment cars, each room being finished in different woods and supplied with private lavatory and toilet; Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars of the latest pattern and finish; a royal club car for the gentlemen; an observation car with a handsome drawing room at its rear opening on to a wide platform; a library car, and dining car, in which the service and the cuisine rank with the finest New York hotels. This "New York and Florida Limited" runs through solid to St. Augustine with the exception of one car which is detached at Columbia, S. C., and goes through to Aiken, which it reaches at 9:35 the next morning after leaving New York, and Augusta at 9:50. Brunswick and Jeckyl Island are conveniently reached by this train at 12 o'clock noon through the perfect connections afforded at Everett, Ga.

There are two other fine trains between New York ond Florida via "The Florida Short Line," one the "Washington and Southwestern Vestibule Limited," leaving New York at 4:20 p. m. daily, and the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York at 12:05 midnight. The former train carries through Pullman drawing room sleeping cars between New York, Jacksonville and Tampa, and also offers Pullman sleeping car service between New York and Augusta, Ga., with connections for Aiken, Brunswick and Jekyl Island. The latter carries through drawing room sleeping cars between New York and Jacksonville, connecting with parlor car service to points on F. C. & P. R. R. and F. E. C. Ry. Dining cars are operated on all trains of the Southern Ry. "The Florida Short Line" in connection with the Florida East Coast Railway to Miami offers the most direct, quickest and delightful service to Nassau, Havana and Key West. For full information, reservations, etc., apply to J. L. Adams, G. E. A., F. C. & P. R. R., 353 Broadway, New York, or to A. S. Thweatt, E. P. A., Southern Ry, 271 Broadway, New York.

Death of a Colored Woman.

Communicated.

Agnes Crump, age 72 years, died this morning at 6 o'clock, at the residence of her daughter, in the eastern part of town. Funeral services tomorrow at 3 p. m. St. James Presbyterian church, (col). Thus passes away the remarkable life of one of our oldest and most faithful colored women, who spent her entire life practically in the same family.

Before the civil war from 1835 or 6, she was owned by and lived with the late Andrew Weatherly, having nursed every one of his children, and when she received her freedom she lived with his eldest daughter, the late Mrs. L. M. Scott, until the marriage of another daughter, Mrs. W. R. Murray, with whom she lived for twenty-five years, until her health gave way. She lived a life of faithfulness and devotion to all with whom she came in contact and was almost indispensable to all with whom she lived. About three years ago she was stricken with paralysis from which she never fully recovered and a second stroke a few days ago caused her death. There were not many like "Old Aunt Aggie" and she will be missed.

THE OPERA HOUSE.

A Tremendous Audience Greets the Rentfrow Company.

Dr. Griffith is to be congratulated on his good management in securing such a grand attraction as the Rentfrow Big Stock Company, which opened a week's engagement last night in the opera house. The company is a large one, with a superb band and orchestra, and plays none but principal cities. Last night's play, "The Lightning Express," was received most enthusiastically and the clever performers received unstinted applause from the largest audience ever in the house.

Jap Rentfrow, a very fine comedian of much originality; Helen Myrtle, a sweet little actress with charming personality; Mrs. J. N. Rentfrow, a highly talented emotional actress of much power; Little Louise, a clever child artist who played a boy's part with much success, and Harry King in the character of a liquor loving father, were the artists who received the most applause from the audience. Incidental to the play a number of really excellent specialties were introduced by Little Louise, Jap Rentfrow, Helen Myrtle, Walter Armin and Grace Rentfrow. These were of a highly diversified nature and were very pleasing.

One prominent feature of this attraction is the very fine band and orchestra it carries. This department is a great addition to the company and will become a great drawing card before the week is over. The band concert at noon yesterday attracted a vast audience.

"The Devil's Gold Mine" is the play for tonight. It is the special property of Mr. Rentfrow and from present appearances will be enjoyed by another crowded house. Such meritorious companies deserve the patronage of all amusement lovers.

An Old Acquaintance.

Mr. Frederic Seward, leading man of the Rentfrow company, is an old Greensboro favorite who will be remembered most pleasantly as the leading man of the Minnie Seward company, which played to fine business, and made a host of friends, in the old hall some eight seasons ago. Mr. Seward was wonderfully surprised to note the rapid growth of Greensboro since his last appearance here.
